The work of women

What do women consider "work" to be? What is work, and how do we separate it from pleasure? Do we get paid for it? How about the time we put in unpaid labour? When are we appreciated? How does our work limit us or define us?

Deadline July 31, 1996.

All My Relations

Friends, family, partners, lovers. The best, the worst, the unconventional, and the comforting. The dynamics of social relationships. Contest issue. (For entry rules, send SASE.)

Deadline July 31, 1996.

Grace of Aging

Growth, experience, coming of age, wisdom, Alzheimers, tolerance, conservatism, outrageousness, change of decade, finances, health, parents, children, partners. What does aging mean for women? Deadline Oct. 31, 1996

Women and Disabilities

All of us are affected by disabilities, some personally, others through friends and family, still others through our professions. How does this bring us together, push us apart?

Deadline Jan. 31, 1997.

Bitchy Is as Bitchy Does

Step aside, Blondie: Hothead Paisan is taking over! We're all familiar with the label—can we reclaim our inner bitch?

Deadline Apr. 1997.

Submit fiction, essays, or non-fiction to 3,000 words, 4 to 5 poems, or black-and-white artwork. Send SASE for complete guidelines or check out our WWW site at <http://www.swifty.com/bcamp/directory/literature/roomhome.html>

GEIST

THE CANADIAN MAGAZINE OF IDEAS AND CULTURE

I found the Pointing Man at one end of the Banff mall, standing on a pedestal with one arm outstretched in the manner of the pompous windbag. I recognized him instantly as our national demiurge, the older man in heavy clothing forever admonishing us to go there, to come here, to stand up, to sit down, to smarten up, to know better, to do as I say.

—Mandelbrot (GEIST 20)

"The folks at GEIST do things a little differently—they have a good time."

—D. Dauphines, London Free Press
