MIRROR ON THE FLOOR

George Bowering

Mirror on the Floor was originally published in 1967 by McClelland and Stewart, the first novel from an emerging young writer named George Bowering. Now with over 100 publications to his credit, we are proud to reissue Bowering's debut novel.

Set in Vancouver in the mid-1960s, Mirror on the Floor focuses on one summer in the lives of UBC grad students Bob Small and his roommate, George Delsing. Vividly rendering the Vancouver of the mid- to late-1960s, Mirror on the Floor depicts a Vancouver where neon signs still shimmered on the rain-soaked streets and Theatre Row bustled with excited movie-goers.

"I have never read a novel which evoked the flavour of a Canadian city so successfully. Vancouver, the smell and feel of its fog, the beaches, the bridges, Stanley Park, the sleazy bars of the dock area are all absolutely there in a way that has been curiously difficult for other novelists to capture."

—Phyllis Grosskurth, Saturday Night

Congratulations, George!

For a tremendous career (and a richly deserved special issue).
It's an honour and a joy working with you.
