The Life and Art of David Marshall
by Monika Ullmann

Introduction by Brooks Joyner

176 pages, colour throughout

$34.95

ISBN 978-1-896949-44-4

Marshall was the founder of the Sculpture Program at Capilano University and a respected teacher from 1974 to 1990. For a decade after retirement, he created some of his most important works at Cap College.

"He is one of a generation of late modernists who have just left us... His accomplishment deserves to be better known in Canada, and merits recognition worldwide." - Barry Lord

WE ALL BEGIN IN A LITTLE MAGAZINE

The Government of Canada may change
how it funds magazines.

The arts and literary magazines you love
could lose essential support.

Is our readership really too small?
With culture, does size matter?
