

grain

We challenge the traditions of writing and reading

Grain is a literary quarterly which publishes writing in all genres that is among the best. We comment on all submissions and pay all contributors.

Subscriptions:

one year (4 issues) $9.00

two years (8 issues) $15.00

GRAIN
Box 1154
Regina, Sask.
S4P 3B4

arc:

a magazine of poetry and poetry criticism

English Department, Carleton University, Ottawa, K1S 5B6

When you get around to subscribing to ARC you won't be just buying a poetry magazine. As Governor-General's Award-winning novelist Jack Hodgins put it, "Each issue is an anthology chock full of a variety of lively and interesting voices." For ARC runs the gamut of good Canadian poetry, from Amabile to Zonailo, publishing both long and short poems, and critical features that have enough space to make and prove their points. Interviews, too, with people like Al Purdy or P.K. Page.

ARC has published established writers and it has published beginners, but that's not the point. ARC's main interest is in quality and if you want good Canadian poetry and criticism and have grown tired of expensive anthologies that may or may not contain enough variety, subscribe to ARC. We'll try to ensure you won't be disappointed.

Past contributors to ARC have included

George Amabile

Roo Borson

Don Coles

Don Domanski

Leona Gom

D.G. Jones

Penny Kemp

Sid Marty

Florence McNeil

Peter Stevens

Christopher Wiseman

Dale Zieroth

and many others

Subscriptions cost $10.00 for four issues. Write now to:

ARC, Department of English, Carleton University,
Ottawa, Ontario,
K1S 5B6