CALL FOR PAPERS

THE CANADIAN ASSOCIATION OF TEACHERS OF TECHNICAL WRITING invites you to send proposals for papers to be presented at the

1987 CONFERENCE OF THE LEARNED SOCIETIES

which will be held at McMaster University, Hamilton

on May 28 and 29

Suggested topics (other topics can be added):

- technical writing
- scientific writing
- specialized writing (administrative, legal, etc.)
- management consulting
- computers and editing
- technical publishing
- the rhetoric of technical writing in Canada (a joint session with the Canadian Society
 - for the History of Rhetoric)
- the job market for technical writers

Whether you are instructors in universities or colleges, writers in government or industry, members or not of CATTW, we would like to hear your point of view. Presentation time will be 20 minutes, followed by a brief question period. Papers can be read in French or in English.

Please submit your proposal and a 150-word abstract along with a short biographical note (10 lines) and mail it before December 15 to:

*French papers

Professeur J. Bossé-Andrieu OR Vice-President, CATTW School of Translators and Interpreters University of Ottawa 5 Hastey Avenue Ottawa, Ontario, K1N 6N5 Telephone: (613) 234-4215 (613) 564-4064

*English papers

Professor Bruce Lundgren
CATTW
Department of English
University of Western Ontario
London, Ontario, N6A 3K7
Telephone: (519) 679-2111
ext. 5785
(519) 472-4023

