

Contributors

NICOS ALEXIOU is a Ph.D. candidate in the Department of Sociology at the City University of New York Graduate School.

PETER BRATSIS is a Ph.D. candidate in the Department of Political Science at the City University of New York Graduate School.

RICHARD CLOGG is a Senior Research Fellow of St. Antony's College, Oxford.

The late ELIZABETH CONSTANTINIDES was Associate Professor of Modern Greek Literature at Queens College, CUNY and a Member of the Board of the Center for Byzantine and Modern Greek Studies.

THEODORE A. COULOUMBIS is Professor of International Relations at the University of Athens and Secretary General at the Hellenic Foundation for European and Foreign Policy (ELIAMEP).

EVANTHIS HATZIVASSILIOU is a Member of the Board of Editors of Ekdotike Athenon. He is the author of Britain and The International Status of Cyprus, 1955-59 (Minneapolis, 1997).

SPYROS D. ORFANOS is Adjunct Associate Professor, Center for Byzantine and Modern Greek Studies, Queens College, CUNY. He is Co-Director of the Manhattan Institute for Psychoanalysis.

S. J. RAPHALIDES is Professor of Political Science, Farleigh Dickinson University.

JAMES J. REID is Senior Research Fellow at the Speros B. Vryonis Center for the Study of Hellenism and Adjunct Professor of History at California State University in Sacramento.

PANAYIOTIS J. TSAKONAS serves as an Adviser on Defense and Strategic Issues at the Hellenic Ministry of National Defense.

THANOS VEREMIS is Professor of Political History at the University of Athens and President at the Hellenic Foundation for European and Foreign Policy (ELIAMEP).