

Mind-Matter Research Network

The JNL Editorial Board is in the process of organizing a cross-disciplinary network with a focus on mind-matter research; relevant areas would include physics, neuroscience, parapsychology, mind-body healing, placebo, biophysics, photobiology, epigenetics, biochemistry and other related disciplines. The network would be independent of any particular organization, but allow individuals with a research interest in this field to easily locate potential partners, co-authors and necessary technical resources.

If you are interested in joining this roster, please send an e-mail to liansidorov@gmail.com