

In celebration of the 25th year of International Development Week,
SFU, in partnership with the MOSAIC Institute
presents

What's Canadian about International Development? An Election Year Conversation

SAVE THE DATE

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 5

5:00 PM - 7:00 PM

Please register at:
<http://bit.ly/1G218dS>

Segal Centre room 1400-1430 Harbour Centre
515 West Hastings Street, Vancouver, BC

---

A Canadian federal election is slated to take place in 2015. Under the Conservative mandate, Canada's international development apparatus has seen a massive shift in key agendas, actors, funding and discourses. As a result, a significant discussion is currently happening around international development in Canada's foreign policy.

This event will bring together experts to discuss what should be at the heart of Canadian international development work. We will look at international development in light of key contemporary issues, including Canada's security agenda, the role of diasporas in international development, Canada's response to the Ebola epidemic in Western Africa, and innovative financing.

---

This event is sponsored by:

For further information, please contact: SFU International Development at: idfe@sfu.ca